AN OPEN LETTER.

Dear Sir,

IN the repairing section of the watch trade in India, it will be found that there are very few workmen who have any idea how to treat a high class watch. Repairs to a first class watch should be carried out with equal skill to that exercised in its original construction and for this a really skilled worker is necessary.

A large majority of the public, owing to the great craving for cheapness and lack of appreciation of good workmanship, have encouraged considerably the output of much rubbish in watches which finds its way to an alarming extent into this country. It is only necessary to take up a newspaper, chiefly those which circulate amongst the uninformed, to find many attractively drawn up advertisements full of promises of perfection in watches which are offered for sale from anything fifteen annas each and upwards—and there are some who carry a cheap watch and praise it only by way of justification for carrying it. There is also a class of dealer who leaves off at the selling of a cheap watch and declines to spend time in repairing it.

The average person who engages in any craft profession or business considers it from two aspects: first, his inclination or liking for any particular occupation; second, the financial rewards which such occupation can derive. It is so also with the watch-repairer and constructor. We maintain that in the repairing department of the cheap watch trade as it at present stands, the prospects of monetary rewards are becoming chimerical, as the trade of selling a watch at 10 Rupees and undertaking by guarantee to keep it in order for 25 years does not only not offer attractions for intelligent labours, but is destroying all ambition in the advancement of the study of horological science. Competing as we have always done for quality and not for bazaar prices, we have always employed experienced men only, workmen who are capable of taking up and handling successfully the finest and most complicated movements in a watch or clock.

We believe the reasoning section of the public for whom we cater in this direction will appreciate our efforts. The slightly extra cost for such work will, we guarantee, be more than compensated for by absolute reliability.

This year at our Poona Branch, we are again offering European skilled labour in our Watch repairing department. Our advice, to all owners of good Watches, is to bring them to us for intelligent and skilled attention.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.—If your hair is turning grey or white or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it "will positively restore in every case Grey or White hair" to its original colour, without having the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots where the glands are not decayed. Ask your Chemists for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," sold by Chemists and Perfumers everywhere. Wholesale Depot, 88, Farringdon Road, London, England.

TREACHER AND COMPANY.

Annual Meeting.

THE annual ordinary general meeting of the shareholders of Treacher and Company was held yesterday afternoon at the Company's premises, Mr. Robert Barlow presiding.

The annual report stated :—The year has been an exceptionally bad one, and the steady increase in the amount of business, which the Board has been able to report for some years past, has received a check. The excessive competition which now obtains has the effect of reducing prices to such an extent as to make them barely remunerative and as there appears to be no prospect of any immediate improvement in this respect, the only way to ensure some return to the shareholders is to reduce expenditure. This has been done to a considerable extent and the Board hope that the measures taken will effect a still greater saving next year. Notwithstanding this economy it has been found impossible to make any serious headway, and it will be observed that the profits of the year are comparatively small, only enabling the Company to pay some four per cent. As, however, the account of the sale of the Byculla Building is nearly complete, the Board propose to augment the amount available for dividend, by transferring from the profits shown in this account a sum of Rs. 15,000 in order to make the dividend up to Rs. 60,000 or 6 per cent on the paid-up Capital. The amount standing to the credit of profit and loss, including the Byculla property account is Rs. 1,23,341-5-9 and this the Directors propose to apportion as follows:—Dividend at Rs. 30 per share, Rs. 60,000-0-0 ; carry to reserve fund for equalization of dividends, Rs. 35,000-0-0 ; depreciation of plant, Rs. 20,000-0-0; carried forward, Rs. 8,341-5 9 ; total Rs. 1,23,341-5-9. The stock has been carefully taken and is reported to be in good condition by the General Manager. The Company's buildings and stocks have been insured for the sum of Rs 11,55,000. Your directors are sorry to have to inform you that your General Manager, Mr. W. Knowles, after some twenty-two years' service, will retire during the course of the current year, and they are taking steps to fill up this appointment.

The chairman, in moving the adoption of the report, among other things said :—In placing before you the accounts of the Company for the past year the Board are sensible that they are not so satisfactory as we could all wish, and that they will be received with a feeling of some disappointment natural, doubtless, to shareholders who receive a reduced dividend, but by no means unexpected. For you must all have been fully prepared, by the frequent warnings addressed to you, to hear to-day that the profits of the Company for the past few years have not been maintained. It is an open secret that the satisfactory dividends lately paid have been due to profits obtained on business more or less outside the scope of the Company's usual operations. In the past year we have not been so fortunate, and have had to rely upon our ordinary trading. The Board are fully alive to the situation and quite appreciate the disappointment of shareholders at receiving such meagre results from an old-established Company like Treacher's doing a very large business. It is not lack of business that affects us, nor a decline in public favour, nor want of energy or ability in our staff ; but the ever-increasing competition which has brought prices down to the present low rates which reduce the margin of profit to a very small figure, more especially so in the case of a Company such as this which is obliged to maintain large stocks, and an able staff to carry on its business. Generally competition by bringing about a decrease in prices makes it possible for a greater number of people to buy the goods which are cheapened, so that there is an increase of business to compensate for the smaller individual profit; but this Company is so situated that the class of customers who deal with it does not expand in proportion to the increase in the number and activity of its competitors. Acute competition of this nature becomes over done and seldom lasts very long ; and in the natural course of events, some improvement in this respect may be expected before long. Meanwhile your Board has been most seriously considering the position and the steps to be taken to counteract these unfavourable influences. A good deal has already been done in the way of reduction of expenditure, some of which has been rendered possible by the removal of the Byculla Establishment to the Fort ; most of it by reduction of staff. Some further saving in salaries is expected during the current year, the benefit of which is now having had full effect in last year's account ; but it is only fair to warn you, gentlemen, that after that no further reduction under this head is to be looked for, the establishment having now been cut down to the lowest limit consistent with efficiency. On the other side we have to endeavour to find means of doing a more profitable trade, and of pushing still further those portions of our business which gives us the best return. Both Board and Management are giving their best attention to these matters and will do their utmost to increase the Company's earnings and to save as much of them for the shareholders as is possible. Your Company is in a very sound condition, and we believe all its properties and assets to be well worth the amounts at which they are valued. Turning to the balance sheet, you will see that the item headed Byculla premises has now disappeared, and that the balance of Rs. 78,300 accruing from their sale is shown to the credit of profit and loss. Much difficulty has been encountered in pulling through this sale, which practically has, however, now been completed satisfactorily; and the application of the profit which we propose that we trust, commend itself to you. Under the circumstances the Board would have been quite justified in keeping the whole of it for working capital or general reserve fund in replacement of sums taken out, while the operations of sale of the Byculla property and purchase of that in British Hotel Lane were proceeding ; but we consider that the proposals we now make are fair and reasonable, and will be as welcome to shareholders as any other form of allocation whilst assisting the company in its business, certainly for some time to come as well as if we made an actual return of funds to working capital. It will be seen that the Board have established a special Reserve Fund for the equalisation of dividends, which will enable shareholders to feel confident of receiving a fair dividend during the difficult period through which we are now passing, and likely to have to pass for some time longer. Analysis of the accounts for the past nine years shows that the average dividend paid out of profits during that time has been 6 per cent. if allowance be made for the increased amounts distributed during the last two years owing to the extra and unusual business to which reference has already been made. It seems, therefore, that 6 per cent. is a reasonable figure for you to be satisfied with and expect; and our proposals are made so as to give you that dividend for the past year, with every reasonable expectation of getting at least no less during the next two or three years, by which time we may hope that the present ruinous competition may be less severely felt or that we may have found means to overcome it. Here let me again remind you that only very exceptional circumstances have enabled you to draw the larger dividends of the previous two years, that you have all long been kept fully informed of this fact, and that, therefore, the present distribution ought at all events to be quite up to your expectations. Before quitting this subject, and in order to avoid any possible future doubt or misunderstanding on the point, I wish to put on record in the clearest possible manner that it is the settled policy of the Directors that this fund is only to be used for equalization of dividends should the profits fall below 6 per cent. not for augmentation of them, in any shape or form. I am gald to be able to say on Mr. Knowles' authority that he has been well and loyally supported by his staff, upon whose exertions in your interests so much depends. I now move the adoption of the report and accounts for the year ended 21st March last, as circulated to you, and shall be glad to hear any remarks which any shareholder may wish to make upon them, and to reply to the best of my ability to any questions regarding them or criticism upon them which may be brought forward.

Dr. Sahiar seconded the proposition.

Several shareholders spoke on the report and also asked for a larger dividend.

The proposition was then put to the vote and carried.

Mr. S. E. Warden moved that a dividend of Rs. 30 per share be declared.

Mr. A. M. Cursetji seconded the proposition.

Mr. S. N. Gazdar then moved that a dividend of Rs. 45 be declared and Rs. 5,000 instead of Rs. 35,000 be carried forward.

Mr. C. M. Mehta seconded the amendment.

The chairman placed the proposition and amendment before the meeting for discussion with a remark that it was not advisable to carry the amendment.

Mr. Gazdar here asked for votes on the amendment, when under clause 66 of the articles of association, the chairman adjourned the meeting to Thursday next.

THE INDIAN POLICE IN PARLIAMENT.

THE forfeiture of Mr. Mackarness's pamphlet on the methods of the Indian Police is one of the wisest steps yet taken to suppress the mischievous energy of the irresponsible M.P. The next best thing would be to deport, under the Regulation of 1818, the very first two, who coming to this country in the cold weather, are guilty of making indiscreet speeches. Lord Morley considers the local Governments fully justified in confiscating Mr. Mackarness's work and sees no reason to shirk applying the same law to obnoxious matter from England as is applied to similar matter produced in India—matter calculated to bring the Government established in India into hatred and contempt. Mr. Keir Hardie appears to have been the champion of Mr. Mackarness. The only pity is Mr. Hardie's book was not similarly treated. It may be said of his, as of his protege's work, that quotations are used in a mischievous fashion and moreover there are inaccuracies on every page. Unsubstantiated attacks on the Police must have a most serious effect on their capacity to retain public confidence and preserve order, and even without these their work is fully cut out. They may resort to oriental methods in dealing with oriental crime and their standard of intelligence may not be high. Who can expect it from men who are paid the wages of coolies? It is not claimed that they are as efficient as might be wished, still Governments are surely, if slowly, endeavouring to effect improvements, and by and bye there will be even less cause for complaint than there is to-day. Of course, our English critics believe in the stories of torture and of the extortion of confessions. But those who know this country best are well aware that very very few of the allegations are true and that practically none is ever proved. But we remember Sir Frederick Lely, without expressing any opinion on torture, wrote of the "misplaced value we attach to confessions" which, perhaps, not rarely brings about a miscarriage of justice. Perhaps it does occasionally, or rather it did; for confessions—though the police will get them when they can—are now less unhesitatingly accepted than formerly. "It is hard," wrote Sir Frederick, "for the sane Englishman, healthy and vigorous in mind and body, to believe that a man will make statements against himself unless they are true. Yet I believe it is not uncommon in India. The average Indian will say almost anything if he is skilfully bullied. Even in England it has sometimes happened that a prisoner has wrongly pleaded guilty, in despair at finding himself far from home and friends and surrounded by unsympathetic strangers. In India two more powerful motives often operate, (1) a belief, often fostered by the police, that a confession will lead to more lenient treatment, and (2) in the case of crimes that have attracted public attention, a desire for notoriety which in many natives of the country amounts to a disease." The second of these motives is not perhaps dreamt of by writers of the calibre of Mr. Mackarness, nor do they appreciate the fact that, relenting, they will retract everything they have said and mutilate themselves in the effort to prove that their confessions were made under police torture.

If the police require any defence they will find it in the volume to which we drew attention the other day, wherein the ex-Governor of Eastern Bengal, Sir Bampfylde Fuller, refers to them and their work at considerable length. Considering the density of the population, its poverty and its diversity, he pronounces crime to be under very close control. The Indian Police have accomplished great things. They are a credit, even though they offer an ever present threat to laxity of administration. They have great temptations to bribes if they are not impressed by the strength and vigilance of the superior authority. "They have peculiar difficulties. They are confronted not only with individual criminals or small gangs of criminals, but with associations for the commission of crime, which do not always trouble themselves to work furtively, but make open war upon society." Yet under supervision they deal with these effectively. As illustrations we need but mention their complete disposal of the Thugs, their dispersal of dacoits and their control of the criminal tribes. In their dealing with ordinary crime it cannot be denied that they are as successful as the county police in England. And if at times they misuse their authority it may be said they are not quite so great sinners as might be expected considering who they are and what their pay; which Sir Bampfylde Fuller holds that, were cases in which persons who have been robbed institute proceedings before a magistrate, who order police enquiries, withdrawn from the authority of the police, there would be very much less scope for the misuse of authority and the abuses which discredit our police administration would be materially lessened. Some of the abuses complained of are undoubtedly due to a lack of intelligence. If we judge the work of our police by statistics, by examining the proportion of cases detected to cases occurring and the proportion of convicted persons to persons arrested, we have little to complain of. It has been said that the police will strain and fabricate evidence to secure convictions and ensure good returns. On the other hand, it must be remembered that the accused will do the same and the task of a magistrate who sifts the evidence on both sides and divides the wheat from the chaff is such as can only be performed by one who knows the people and understands their habits and idiosyncracies.

But the greatest difficulty the police have to contend with and the keenest inducement they have to obtain confession and strain evidence is found in the unwillingness of the people to assist. This is a point to which the Government of India has frequently, and only recently, brought to public notice, in the hope that the people will see the error of their ways. But Sir Bampfylde Fuller writes:—"An attitude of detachment—an unwillingness to be involved in public affairs by giving assistance in criminal enquiries—is characteristic of the country and does not need to be explained by any special distrust of the police. If a man sees a crime committed, his first impulse is to conceal his knowledge. He sees no reason why he should assist the State to do its business; and by giving evidence he may incur enmity which may, at some time or other, provoke revenge. Moreover, a witness has to suffer much, to travel some distance to the court, to be detained, it may be, some days, and not improbably, under cross-examination, to be heckled in a fashion which, to us, is irritating and to an Indian appears degrading. Such being the attitude of the people we may enter into the feelings of the police and can understand how it comes that they press for evidence in ways that under lax supervision very easily degenerate into forms of torture." None of this, of course, is known to critics at home, who on the strength of a brief sojourn in India presume to write of the Indian Police and its methods, or the Government of India and its defects, or any other subject—for none is too subtle for their understanding, which is not blurred by any sense of modesty or handicapped by any timorous hesitancy. We repeat we are glad the local Governments seized Mr. Mackarness' book, doubly so that the Secretary of State has upheld their action.

THE VACUUM CLEANER. THE sweeping-brush will soon be a weapon with only a past to its name, for the vacuum cleaner in its various manifestations beats it hollow. The brush, of time-honoured use, tossed the dust manfully out of carpet, or off the floor, but allowed its finer particles to be relaid wherever they listed, on all the furniture in the vicinity in the lungs and eyes of the wielder. And when it was laid aside, its rough work done, the duster came into play forthwith to rub away the obnoxious settlement from table, chair, and every crevice where dust could lodge. With the vacuum cleaner there is none of this aftermath. The whole of the dust is drawn up into the tube and there remains until it is deliberately emptied into a safe depository. The revelation made by that tube is a marvel. It seems at first incredible that a carpet or a sofa, looking fairly fresh and innocent, could possibly hold so enormous an amount of grime as pours out of that tube when unscrewed. But the worker may go over the ground again and again and every time reap almost as heavy a harvest until all the dust is sucked out of its hiding-places. Then, looking round the room not a grain of the finest dust has wandered elsewhere, it is all imprisoned in the tube. There are vacuum cleaners of various sorts, some worked from outside the house by means of long rubber tubes put through the windows and some entirely within the edifice itself, but whether the power be manual, steam or air, the principle is the same. Large institutions have a steam installation and remove all the dust incidental to life and business with their aid. Even a small hand vacuum cleaner works wonders in a room. It takes only a few minutes to acquire ease in manipulating it and though it cannot be made to suck up threads or large detritus of sorts, it gathers up the dust, draws it out of any holes and corners to which it is directly applied. The legend about the absorption of all small ornaments by the more powerful cleaners do not therefore apply to it in any degree, for dust, pure and simple, is all it will assimilate, but this it does in astonishing measure. Those who cannot believe in the existence of dust they have not seen in a carpet before the cleaner brings it to light, need only strew flour, or chalk, or dust in any quantity they like over the surface and watch its rapid disappearance into the tube of the machine. These applications or ingenious inventions to the mysteries of house-keeping are a considerable saving of labour, and if they were only less expensive to use on a large scale, would do much to mitigate the servant trouble in England. In India they would do away with the wild daily beating of furniture by the hamal as his contribution to the periodical cleaning of the bungalow. The mechanism of these vacuum machines is so simple that it cannot easily get out of order. When it does fail it is generally because it wants a new piece of rubber somewhere, and as the places where the rubber is inserted are easily found, the substitution of a new piece for the worn-out one is the affair of a moment. If an automatic cooker were invented now, domestic complications might be avoided altogether. As it is, domesticity is daily becoming a virtue more difficult to practise when it depends on the will or wills of servants who are too busy considering the limits they can set to the work they have engaged to perform, to dream of getting through the work itself in a satisfactory manner.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF SUFFERING BOMBAY. THE result of the first meeting of the King Edward Memorial Committee is that we are to have a hospital at the Northern End of the city and the outcome of a Government communication, addressed to the Corporation and other public bodies, will undoubtedly be that we shall have a Pasteur Institute at Parel. We have no objection to either, but we are afraid that to some extent, coming together as they do, the two schemes will militate against each other. The Edward VII Memorial is to be entirely raised out of public subscriptions. Towards the Pasteur Institute, Government will make a liberal contribution, and it is hoped that the Corporation and Port Trust will do the same. But it is anticipated that the public will open their purses for this too. Even the most generous hesitate about giving twice beyond that which is implied in giving quickly, and subscriptions may in consequence be divided. Nay, it is practically certain they will, and the memorial will suffer to the extent of being a hospital minus the supplementary appendages which were suggested at Wednesday's meeting. Still the Corporation and Port Trust may save the situation if they will—and it is to be hoped they will—show the inclination early instead of shelving the communication until it pleases Councillors to acknowledge it and fix a date for consideration.

THE HOUSEHOLD TROOPS' DISPUTE. ALTHOUGH apart from the famous regiments concerned the matter is of little importance, a great deal of historical interest attaches to the dispute between the Household Cavalry and the Grenadier Guards as to which of them has the right to guard the remains of a deceased monarch. The cavalry largely base their claim on the established custom that they, and they alone, have the right to be inside the royal apartments as the sovereign's guard. Guard-room duties only are the privilege of the Foot Guards. Since Osborne, where Queen Victoria died, is not a royal palace, the point did not arise at her death, and it must have been passed over when George IV. died and his body was guarded at Windsor, by Yeomen of the Guard with troopers of the Household Cavalry keeping watch at the door. The most recent case at all parallel to this was the dispute as to precedence in the sovereign's presence between the Silver Stick, a Household Cavalry Officer and the Field Officer in Brigade waiting, who is of the Foot Guards. This was decided by the Master of the Rolls in favour of the Life Guardsman. The present dispute will be settled by the same tribunal on evidence, the collection of which will be the business of the General Officer Commanding the London District.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS.

(FROM OUR LADY CORRESPONDENT).

London, June 3.

THIS week has been a great week in Holland, Queen Welhelmina officially visits her capital, Amsterdam, and resides at her palace there. But to the great joy of the people Princess Juliana, who is one year old, is taking part in the festivities. Yesterday's programme began at nine o'clock in the morning when 8,000 children serenaded the little Princess at the Palace. The nurse took the little Princess on to the balcony.

A FIRST LESSON.

Then the Queen joined the baby at the window, and the cheers changed to bursts of delighted laughter when the Princess' little hands began to punse her mother's face in playful baby fashion. Then came a delicious little incident. The Queen, all radiant with joy and pride, with her husband; the Prince-Consort, standing proudly by her side, and her loved and loving people showing their gladness in the square below, held up her little Princess in her arms and gave her her first lesson in the art of being a Princess. She taught little Juliana to acknowledge the greetings of the populace. She showed her how to wave her hand to the people. After that her royal little Highness waved quite by herself, without being prompted, whenever the flags and streamer were fluttered at her. She soon learned her first lesson. And how the crowd cheered! Nor were they less charmed when, in the prettiest way imaginable, she spread a little handkerchief against the windowpane and played "bo-peep" with the people outside. Juliana seems quite to understand she is the centre of interest. One can hardly believe she is but a year old.

HER HIGHNESS' BABY.

Some people may think it "absurd" for thousands and thousands of grown-up people to wave their hands and raise their voices in favour of a rather perplexed plump baby. Remember, though, that this baby, and babies like her, are not ordinary children! This young person, besides being the Princess Juliana and an individual, is the future of Holland as a strong, contented, separate country; is a whole people in one body; and sums up, without knowing it, all recollections of past joys and griefs, all hopes of joys for Holland in days to be. There can be no doubt at all about it—some babies are worth many flags, cheers, crowds, and congratulations! The heiress of Holland is one of them.

WOMEN'S FIELD DAY.

Looking very trim and workmanlike in their neat grey-green uniform, members of the Women's Sick and Wounded Convoy Corps mustered at Totteridge on Saturday morning for their first field day, and stepped briskly out to Copped Hall, the home of Sir Samuel Boulton, who had placed a meadow at their disposal. There under the instruction of Captain Langford Lloyd, R.A.M.C., all were quickly at work, first being initiated into the mysteries of picketing horses taken from the two ambulance wagons which accompanied them, then in the art of constructing a trench kitchen. While the midday meal was cooking, an operating tent was erected, and later in the day the corps gave a very efficient display of stretcher drill, bandaging rapidly and skilfully the "fractured" clavicles and "broken" legs of the bashful villaged youths found on the field of an imaginary battle, and carrying them swiftly and smoothly to the waiting ambulances. Signalling, improvising stretchers, and the transformation of a farm cart into an ambulance were other features of a very instructive day's work. The corps is under the command of Mrs. St. Clair Stobart, and has been organised with a view to training women to become efficient members of voluntary aid detachments under the British Red Cross Society.

MR. GRAHAME-WHITE'S PASSENGER TOURS.

The social side of airmanship was emphasised for the first time on Saturday. Upon the broad green lawns of Ranelagh during the afternoon a fashionable throng gathered around Mr. Claude Grahame-White's famous Farman biplane. A band played softly. There were tea-tables under the trees. A gusty wind, unfortunately spoiled the main idea of the function. Mr. White was to have flown over the grounds from three p.m. until six p.m., both alone and with passengers. It was not until nearly dark that the wind dropped sufficiently for him to make a magnificent ten-minute flight, at an elevation of 600 feet. But while the crowd of well-dressed spectators waited patiently for the wind to moderate, some interesting scenes were witnessed in connection with the booking of passenger flights upon the aeroplane. Mr. Brewer, Mr. Grahame-White's manager, announced that for a fee of £10 10s. Mr. White would carry a passenger for a five-minute flight rising high above the tree-tops, and returning again to the shed.

FIRST BOOKINGS.

Immediately quite a number of people made interested inquiries. The first actual flight was booked by Lady Abdy. She willingly paid twenty-five guineas for a ten-minutes journey through the air. Then came General Cummins, who arranged with Mr. Brewer for a five-minute flight. Afterwards in quick succession aerial trips were booked by Mrs. John Archer, Mr. H B. Pilcher, and Mr. A. W. Ruthven Stuart. A cinematograph firm offered twenty-five guineas if Mr. White would permit only one of their operators to take a flight with him.

RETURN OF THE TRAIN.

The short evening frock is doomed. Women are at last apparently growing tired of the ridicule they have been causing with their "hobble" skirts, and many of the elegant Parisiennes have already returned to the graceful long skirts. Indeed, some have never been the slaves of Fashion at all, having still retained the long, flowing gowns for all indoor wear, restricting the outdoor costumes alone to the trotteur style.

A YOUNG AND SIMPLE STYLE.

Women must appear young, and if the "little girl frock" is to become a thing of the past there are other styles that will give an appearance of extreme youth and yet not strike such a note of exaggeration. A costume of this description is a black Cheviot coat and skirt, exempt entirely, from all trimming, a plain skirt, and a very short little jacket reaching barely below the waist—cut quite straight. Naturally much depends on the cut how this youthful effect is attained. This in black satin looks particularly chic.

FASHIONS.

I saw a rather pretty afternoon dress of black charmeuse, with a moire tunique, opened at each side, and connected by cords and large black buttons, covered in moire and embroidered in floss silk. The corsage of mousseline de soie with the kimono sleeve is worn under a deeply cut-out more shaped ceinture. This was heavily embroidered and embossed in Japanese greys. A large crinoline hat, black, with velvet ribbons, passed to the back and knotted together, the ends falling some way below the waist, with one side a huge bunch of black velvet roses, is worn with this. Some of the morning or knock about hats are very pretty and simple just now. A hat with a fairly large trim which turns down all round and is sold in every conceivable color is swathed round the crown with a colored handkerchief forming a showy at one side, and held in position by large rings covered with ribbon to match one of the colors in the handkerchiefs. These handkerchiefs are displayed in great numbers in the shop, windows, and are very dainty.

WOMEN'S CONGRESS.

Under the auspices of the Women's Local Government Society a Women's Congress is to be held at the Japan British Exhibition, Shepherd's Bush, next week, and also during the week beginning on the 4th of July. Saturday week is to be devoted to a conference organised by Mrs. Godfrey Baring and Lady Helen Munro Fergusson, on Red Cross and General Nursing. The Duchess of Montrose will preside, and among the speakers will be Miss Haldane, whose topic is to be "Territorial Nursing." In the course of the week Mrs. H. J. Tennant will speak on factory inspection, the Duchess of Hamilton on "The Need for Home Science;" Lady Frances Balfour, Lady M'Laren, and Mrs. Fawcett on "Woman's Franchise." During the July week the subjects will include the technical and domestic training of women and girls, and women's work in horticulture, agriculture, the fight against destitution, in philanthropy, and in physical training. Mrs. Sydney Webb, Mrs. Humphrey Ward, Lady Mountstephen, and the Duchess of Bedford are among those who will take part in the discussions.

MADAME MELBA.

At Covent Garden to-night, after an absence of nearly two years from the stage, where so many seasons she had previously reigned without a rival, Mme. Melba made her reappearance before a house which was occupied to the very last seat. The opera was the melodious "La Boheme" of Puccini. The famous prima donna once more charmed all hearers by her matchless representation of the heroine, Mimi. In the concluding portion of the solo, "Mi Chiamano Mimi," the pure high head notes rang out with truly thrilling effect. At the close of the first act Mme. Melba had to respond to something like eight or nine calls, amid the cheering of the crowded audience.

UNDER THE DERBY.

Fifteen or twenty years ago very few women were to be seen at any race meetings at all, with the exception of Ascot and Goodwood, which to-day are great social functions. Nowhere is this change more apparent than at Newmarket, and the fashion of women going to meetings on the "classic heath" was undoubtedly set by Queen Alexandra when Princess of Wales. On the occasion of her first visit to Newmarket she was the guest of Lord Cadogan and the late Lady Cadogan at Rutland Cottage, a small but very charming racing box, a mile or so out of the town of Newmarket. To-day sees almost as many women as men present at the head-centre of racing in England.

FIRST WOMAN DOCTOR.

In her ninetieth year, Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell died yesterday at Hastings. She was the first woman to take a medical degree. Born in Bristol, she graduated at Geneva University, New York State, in 1879, and ten years later was placed on the English register. She practised in London and Hastings, founded the National Health Society and assisted in forming the London School of Medicine for Women. She had lived in Hastings for the last twenty years. Dr. Blackwell was fond of telling the story of her fight for admission to the medical profession. The professors of Geneva University long refused to admit her, but finally left the matter to the students, who decided unanimously in her favour. She confined her ministrations to her own sex. Once a man wrote to her asking if gout were "within her province," and received the reply. "Dear Sir,—Gout is strictly within my province, but men are not."

THE DERBY.

There was a delightful change in the weather at Epsom yesterday, and although the wind was blowing fairly strong it was not so boisterous as on the preceding day. There was bright sunshine all day long, and at times it was really too hot for those people who had journeyed down in thick wraps and overcoats, as, after the experience of the previous day, many people had done. Had it not been for the general mourning it would have been an ideal Derby Day. There were thousands of people wherever one looked. The general public was certainly as numerous as ever, and there was certainly not an empty box in the grand stand, and all the public stands were crowded to excess. It has been suggested that owing to the general wearing of mourning the attendance did not look quite so big as usual, and this was certainly the case, for it is doubtful if the paddock has ever been more crowded than it was yesterday, while nearly all the leading lights of the Turf and those people who make up the racing set were present in full force. One sadly missed the Royal Standard flying over the club-stand but in its place was the Union Jack. Moreover, the balcony, which is usually reserved for the use of royalty, was kept empty all day. Further along on the same balcony, in the portion reserved for ladies connected with the Jockey Club, were to be seen the Duchess of Newcastle, Lady Essex, Lady Wolverton, Mrs. George Cornwallis West, Lady Norsen Bass and her sister, Lady Bowens Paterson, Lady Waldie Griffith, Lady de Trafford, who wore one of the fashionable long black satin coat and a black hat trimmed with black velvet roses; Muriel Lady Helmsley, Lady Cole, Mrs. Alexander, Lady Coventry, Lady Carnarvon, who wore a coat and skirt of dull black cloth with a turban toque of dull chiffon; Mrs. Gilpin, Mrs. Basil Williams, Mrs. Oswald, Mrs. Hall Walker, and several others.

AN APPEAL TO YOUR CHARITY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—The Seva Sadan anniversary was observed last year on July 11, and will be observed this year, as a Self-Denial Day. The principle duty of the Sadan Sisters is to serve and relieve the poor and the distressed. They seek to aid the helpless and succour the needy. They have a home for the homeless at Malad and a Free Dispensary and Home Class in Jacob's Circle. They also want to start an Industrial Home at Andheri for which about twelve acres of land has been granted by Government. For all these purposes funds are wanted. The Sisters are willing also to become the almoners of those who feel for the poor and they will distribute their charity, with zealous care according to the instructions given. Every contribution will be acknowledged. Donations in cash or in kind should be addressed to

SISTER SUSHILABAI,
Seva Sadan, Grant Road.

A BYE-LAW has been framed by the Calcutta Port Commissioners, imposing upon the Masters of vessels, the duty of reporting to officers of the Port Trust, loss of cargo overside, and of taking immediate steps for its recovery. A breach of this bye-law is punishable with a fine which may extend to Rs. 500, and in case of a continuing breach, to a further fine which may extend to Rs. 200, for every day after the first during which the breach continues.

INDIAN POLICE METHODS.

THE PAMPHLET BY MR. MACKARNESS.

Lord Morley's Firm Attitude.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, JUNE 22.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Keir-Hardie asked the reasons for the forfeiture of Mr. Mackarness's pamphlet on "The Methods of the Indian Police."

Mr. Montagu replied that it had been forfeited by six local Governments, owing to its words tending to bring the Government established in India into hatred and contempt. "Lord Morley," he continued, "considers the Governments are fully justified, and sees no reasons for shirking the application of the same law to obnoxious matter from England as is applied to similar matter produced in India."

Mr. Keir Hardie declared that there was not a single word or statement in the pamphlet, which was not an extract from an official document or a reply in Parliament.

Mr. Montagu said the quotations were used in a most mischievous fashion, and moreover there were inaccuracies on every page.

In reply to Mr. Rees, Mr. Montagu agreed that unsubstantiated attacks on the police must have a most serious effect on their capacity to retain the public confidence and preserve order.

LONDON, JUNE 23.

In the House of Commons, last night, Mr. Montagu offered to go through Mr. Mackarness' pamphlet with Mr. Keir-Hardie and explain to him the enormous number of inaccuracies on every page. Mr. Keir-Hardie replied that he would endeavour to obtain the information for the use of the public himself.

THE POLITICAL CONFERENCE.

Two Hours' Meeting Held.

LONDON, JUNE 23.

FUNERAL OF "PLUVOISE" VICTIMS.

President's Tribute.

LONDON, JUNE 22.

Reuter wires from Calais that the funeral of victims of the "Pluvoise" to-day was attended by most striking scenes. The town is in mourning. The procession went from the Town Hall to the Cathedral.

President Fallieres and Ministers paid eloquent tributes to the dead, who were the victims of duty. The President expressed thanks for the world-wide sympathy which had been expressed.

The crowds in the streets were deeply affected. Hosts of wreaths were received, including many British tributes.

LAND LAW IN THE DUTCH EAST INDIES.

Private Estates to Revert to the State.

LONDON, JUNE 22.

Telegrams from the Hague state that the Chamber has passed a Bill providing for the reversion of private estates in Java to the State.

The Minister of the Colonies recognised that certain measures were necessary in the case of estates belonging to foreigners, and promised to give the subject his attention.

EASTERN RIFLE TEAMS.

Received by the King.

LONDON, JUNE 22,

King George, this afternoon, received in the grounds of Marlborough House, the Australian, Singapore and Malay Guides rifle teams. His Majesty addressed them briefly, wishing each success, and warmly welcoming them. The officers were afterwards presented separately. Lord Crewe and Lord Cheylesmore were present.

The Malay Guides' team subsequently visited the Strangers' Gallery in the House of Commons.

Lord Crewe this morning held a reception in honour of the Malay Guides at the Colonial Office. His Lordship hoped they would equal and surpass their success in winning the Roberts Cup in 1908.

LORD KITCHENER.

Proposed New Appointment.

LONDON, JUNE 23.

BANKERS AND COTTON FRAUDS.

Forged Bills of Lading.

QUESTION OF RESPONSIBILITY.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, JUNE 23.

The Chairman of Lloyd's Bank presided at a meeting of bankers in London to discuss the situation, arising out of the recent forged Bills of Lading, attached to cotton bills from the United States. All the leading British and Continental Banks were represented.

The feeling was expressed that the responsibility for the genuineness of Bills of Lading must be brought home to the original exporter of cotton and the purchaser of the bill.

A Committee of sixteen was formed to negotiate with the Trans-Atlantic interests affected.

THE CRETAN DIFFICULTY.

No Drastic Measures Necessary.

LONDON, JUNE 23.

Reuter telegraphs from St. Petersburg that it is hoped in official circles that the despatch of warships to Crete will suffice and that the military re-occupation will be unnecessary in view of the compliant attitude of the Cretans. Britain, France, and Italy have, however, accepted the principle of M. Isvolsky's proposal.

AIRSHIP PASSENGER SERVICE.

Count Zepplin's Success.

LONDON, JUNE 23.

Immense satisfaction is expressed in Germany at the epoch-making inauguration of the passenger airship service. No hitch occurred in the voyage of Zeppelin VII though the weather at the start was unfavourable. Count Zeppelin, who was in the fore-car, commanded the vessel which had thirteen passengers on board. The saloon connecting two other cars was luxuriously decorated and included a buffet where various refreshments were obtainable.

A FRONTIER RAID.

Hindus Captured by Afridis.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LAHORE, JUNE 22.

As regards the raid on the frontier, in which six Hindus were taken away by the raiders, a correspondent writes, that these six Hindus are relatives of Lala Jiwan Mall, Secretary, Sanatan Dharma Sabha, Peshawar, who was charged with firing on the mob in the Peshawar riots, and after a long trial was released by the Deputy Commissioner. These relations were going to Peshawar from their village home to congratulate him, when they were waylaid by Afridis and taken as prisoners, and seven Mahomedans and a small Hindu boy were also captured by the Afridis, but they were let go on crossing the border. The same correspondent says, that on the day Lala Jiwan Mall was released by the Deputy Commissioner of Peshawar, soldiers patrolled the streets of Peshawar.

FAREWELL FUNCTIONS TO THE VICEROY.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, JUNE 22.

Now that the general mourning is over, Simla society is discussing several farewell functions for Lord and Lady Minto. THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

SIMLA, JUNE 23.

The following circular telegram has been addressed by the Government of India to all the local Governments and Administrations. "Intimation has just been received from the Secretary of State that to-morrow the 24th instant, should be a official holiday on account of King's birthday, but there should be no public functions. Please receive orders accordingly. The Government of India think it is now too late to notify under the Negotiable Instruments Act."

GAMBLING IN OPIUM AND GRAIN.

Legislation Postponed.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JUNE 23.

The Pioneer understands that the Committee of investigation now appointed to enquire into the evils of the opium, grain, and silver gambling, in Agra and other places, and to consider what steps should be taken to put a stop to it, will begin its researches in August this year. This is the result of a resolution moved by the Hon'ble Sayad Ali Nabi, in the United Provinces council, on the subject. On behalf of the Government, it was then stated that some action was necessary, but before the Government could be committed to a definite course there should be much more complete information than they then possessed and it was very necessary that the Government should be satisfied that public opinion was in favour of legislation.

Some question is claiming the attention in the Punjab where the question was raised by the Hon'ble Mian Muhammad Shafi. The reply was that the local Government had made a proposal to the Government of India, that legislation should be framed rendering illegal wagering transactions except horse racing. The Government of India concluded the evils of rain and opium gambling were not particularly prevalent in the Punjab. In reply to certain representations of the Commissioner or Delhi, the Punjab Government, in view of a previous superior decision, decided no action be taken in the matter of opium gambling, unless there was a much stronger public movement for its suppression.

MILITARY ACCOUNTS CLERKS' GRIEVANCES.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JUNE 23.

The fifth and sixth grade clerks of the Controller of Military Accounts, Eastern Circle, have submitted a memorial to the Head of the Department and intend approaching the Government of India, submitting that the transfer of the office from Calcutta to Lucknow has put them to serious inconvenience, and that the cost of living is higher in Lucknow than in Bengal. They complain also of their prospects of promotion being hindered by appointments being given to outsiders. They ask that their grievances should be redressed, or that they should be given permission to seek employment in other Government offices near their homes.

RAJENDRAPUR DACOITY CASE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

DACCA, JUNE 23.

Lalit Mohan Shome, the accused in the Rajendrapur train dacoity case, has been discharged to-day for want of evidence.

PASTEUR INSTITUTE FOR PAREL.

Government and the Cost.

THE following Government letters to the Municipal Commissioner for the City of Bombay and the Chairman, Bombay Port Trust, in connection with the question of establishing a branch of the Pasteur Institute at Parel, are published for general information :—

Letter to the Municipal Commissioner for the City of Bombay, dated 15th June, 1910.

"I am directed to state that Government have under consideration the question of establishing a branch of the Pasteur Institute in Bombay.

I am to observe that at present two institutions of the nature exist in India, one at Kasauli and the other at Coonoor, and that although these have proved of immense value in affording relief to patients from all parts of India threatened with rabies, their situation and distance from Bombay render them difficult of access to sufferers, especially of the poorer classes, in the City and the Presidency generally. The number of persons from the Bombay Presidency that have been treated at these institutions for the years 1906, 1907 and 1908 are :—

	1906.	1907.	1908
Kasauli ...	95	163	124

Coonoor (March 1908 to February 1909) 41, (including 13 cases from Native States)

There can be no doubt that these numbers represent only a fraction of the total number who have been bitten by mad dogs; and if facilities for anti-rabic treatment were provided closer at hand, an immense amount of human suffering could be prevented.

Owing to climatic difficulties it has not hitherto been considered practicable to establish Pasteur Institutes anywhere except where conditions approached those of the cold zone. Recent research has, however, demonstrated that the processes, as now practised, can be safely undertaken and that all the operations for the immunisation of bitten individuals can be conducted without any risk in the climate of Bombay. The Governor in Council does not pause to dwell on the great benefit that would be conferred on the people of Bombay and the Presidency generally by the establishment of such an institute in Bombay. It is clear that the saving in expense alone would be very great, while speedy treatment would be ensured to all threatened persons, a matter of the utmost importance. Facilities for treatment would be available even to the very poor who cannot afford to leave their houses and go to distant Kasauli or Coonoor.

Under section 9 (1) of the City of Bombay Police Charges Act III of 1907, the cost of a Pasteur Institute established at Bombay would be a legitimate charge to Municipal revenues. As, however, the Parel Laboratory, a Government institution, affords facilities for the establishment of the proposed branch on an economical scale and as it would be available for the treatment of patients coming from outside Bombay, it would be inequitable to expect the Municipality to meet the whole of the expenditure incurred.

At Parel the services of the superior medical staff already employed and trained as the Laboratory will be available for the bacteriological and other work in connection with the anti-rabic treatment, thus effecting a considerable reduction in the expenses of the Institute. The services of the clerical and other establishment at the Laboratory can also be utilised without much extra cost for the work of the proposed branch. It is estimated that the maintenance of a branch institute in conjunction with the Parel Laboratory will cost from a minimum of Rs. 16,000 to a maximum of Rs. 21,000 a year according to the grade of the medical staff employed. The average may be taken at about Rs. 20,000 a year. I am to attach a statement showing how the estimated cost has been arrived at.

I am to request that the scheme may be laid before the Corporation and that that body may be informed that Government are prepared to incur the initial expenditure required for the construction of buildings and the supply of instruments, etc., and to undertake the management of the Institute. I am to request that in consideration of the benefit the City will derive from the scheme, the Municipality may be asked to vote a liberal contribution towards the up-keep of the proposed institute. Government understand that the Municipality are willing to subscribe to the existing Pasteur Institutes, but have not done so on the ground that the Act does not authorise them to expend their revenues on any object outside the City. As this difficulty does not arise in the present case, the Governor in Council trusts that the Corporation will co-operate with Government in the humane work of affording relief to those threatened with rabies, and I am to enquire how much they are willing to subscribe annually to meet the expenditure on the proposed new branch of the Pasteur Institute at Parel.

I am to add that the other local bodies in Bombay and the mofussil and the benevolent public will also be asked to subscribe towards the object."

Letter to the Chairman, Bombay Port Trust, No. 2816, dated 15th June, 1910.

"I am directed to state that Government have under consideration the question of establishing a branch of the Pasteur Institute in Bombay.

The first two paragraphs are similar to those in the letter to the Corporation and the communication then proceeds :—

"Government have therefore under consideration the adoption of a feasible scheme for the creation of a

KING EDWARD VII MEMORIAL.

Hospital and Sanitorium.

THE first meeting of the General Committee of the King Edward Memorial Fund of the Bombay Presidency was held at the Corporation Hall on Wednesday, June 22nd, when the Hon'ble Sir Basil Scott presided over a representative gathering. On the motion of the Hon'ble Mr. Graham, seconded by Mr. Mirza, it was unanimously decided that His Excellency the Governor be requested to accept the office of President of the King Edward Memorial Fund.

On the motion of Mr. Fazulbhoy Chinoy, seconded by Dr. Sukhia, the Hon'ble Sir Basil Scott was elected Chairman of the Memorial Fund Committee.

The Hon'ble Mr. H. E. E. Proctor proposed and Mr. Masani seconded a resolution to the following effect, which was carried unanimously :—"That the following gentleman be appointed an Executive Committee, to carry out all arrangements in connection with the King Edward Memorial :—The Hon'ble Sir Sassoon J. David, the Hon'ble Mr. R. G. Monteath, the Hon'ble Mr. H. E. E. Procter, Mr. P. R. Cadell, the Hon'ble Mr. Graham, the Hon'ble Mr. M. A. Jinnah, the Hon'ble Mr. Ibrahim Rahimtulla, C.I.E., Mr. Abdul Suleman Wahed, the Hon'ble Mr. Abdul Hussain Peerbhoy, Sir Jamsetji Jijibhai, Sir Dinshaw Petit, Sir Dorab Tata, Mr. H. A. Wadya, Mr. D.E. Wachha, the Hon'ble Sir Vithaldas Thakersey, the Hon'ble Mr. Setalwad, the Hon'ble Mr. Munmohandas Ramji, and Sir Balchandra Krishna."

There was an animated discussion on the subject of the most suitable form of Memorial to his late Majesty. On behalf of the Secretaries it was urged that it was expedient, if possible, to decide at an early late precisely what the memorial should be, and also to select the form of Memorial which was within the probable capacity of the estimated funds without being dependent upon uncertain grants from other sources.

The Hon'ble Sir Sassoon J. David proposed and Dr. Temulji Nariman seconded a resolution to the following effect :—

"That in the opinion of General Committee a Hospital in the Northern part of the Island, with, if possible, a sanatorium for consumptives above the Ghats, and a Convalescent Home at Versova, would be the most appropriate memorial to His Late Majesty, King Edward VII ; and that the Executive Committee be empowered to invite subscriptions for this purpose, and to prepare a detailed scheme for submission to the General Committee."

Mr. Jamsetji Ardesir Wadia remarked that whilst he thought a hospital would be an admirable memorial there might be some members who would prefer the institution of a Fund for the grant of Technical Scholarships.

The Hon'ble Mr. Graham said that while he fully agreed with the utility of the hospital, he would suggest that a new road be cut from the Ballard Pier to the Esplanade Road to be named the King Edward Road, because such a thoroughfare was urgently needed and was apparently beyond the financial capacity of the Improvement Trust.

The question was also raised whether a Hospital in the northern part of the Island was the best form of a Presidency Memorial apart from a Bombay City Memorial, and it was pointed out that whilst it was extremely difficult to raise any memorial which should benefit all parts of the Presidency equally, a hospital came nearest to that ideal, inasmuch as the greater part of the labour force of Bombay came from outside the City and from all parts of the Presidency, and that, therefore, a hospital which would benefit this labour force would appeal in a special degree to the Princes and Chiefs of the Presidency, whose subjects flocked to the Town to engage in industry, and to other districts, whose residents were constantly migrating to Bombay.

Amendments, embodying these suggestions were negatived, after an animated discussion and then the resolution proposed by Sir Sassoon J. David was unanimously adopted.

REPORT ON WHEAT ELEVATORS.

The Position of Karachi.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JUNE 23.

The report of the wheat Elevator Committee, which the Government despatched without comment to the parties concerned, says the "Pioneer," can hardly be looked upon as the last word on the subject. The strongest argument the majority have to bring towards the support of their case for the establishment of an elevator only to Karachi, is that the Railway facilities are at present in advance of those of the port Railway, and can bring grain down to Karachi quicker than Karachi can ship it away. Karachi, in short, is the neck of the bottle, so far as the wheat export trade is concerned. When, however, the neck of the bottle comes to be widened, as it assuredly will, it may be that we shall have to adopt something new in the way of a bottle. And there is always of course the labour difficulty looming on the horizon. The majority of the Committee lay considerable stress on the necessity the cultivator is in to meet as early as possible his financial obligations to the Government and the money-lender. This is the main cause for the rush of wheat down to Karachi in May, June and July. The report is scarcely out, before we hear of a slump in the Indian wheat trade, due to the holders of wheat declining to part with their grain till better prices are offered.

While the holders of wheat in the Punjab generally, do not appear as yet to have made up their minds to past with their grain, a slight movement in the wheat trade, says the "Pioneer," is reported now taking place in the Lyallpur colony district, owing to purchasers having begun to offer better prices.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT WORIUR.

150 Houses Burned.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, JUNE 23.

A disastrous fire broke out yesterday afternoon at Woriur, a suburb of Trichinopoly. With high winds blowing at the time the fire burned down house after house, and spread from street to street with lightning rapidity. It is said that no fewer than 150 houses were burnt down. One old man was severely burnt, and four persons including two children, received slight injuries. The cause of the fire is not known, but is supposed to be accidental.

A BENGALI SUSPECT.

Security Taken.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JUNE 23.

A Bengalee youth, Dinesh Chunder Guha, was seen loitering near the Agartolla Railway Station, in garb of a Sanyasi, on the 27th of November last, just before the special train carrying the Lieutenant-Governor of the Baet Bengal reached there. The police prosecuted him for shadowing the Lieutenant-Governor, and the Magistrate bound him down for one year as he could not give a satisfactory account of himself. To-day Dinesh moved the High Court, bnt his application was rejected.

BENGAL WATER SUPPLY.

Urgent Need of Improvement.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JUNE 22.

The water supply in rural Bengal is a difficult problem, most of the diseases in the interior being due to the scarcity of good drinking water, and in trying to tackle it, Babu Moti Lal Ghose has done a public service.

The Under Secretary to the Government of Bengal has sent a circular to all Commissioners, which inter alia states, that in 1894-95 attention was drawn to the need of a larger outlay upon the improvement of the water supply.

The resolution stated as follows : "In order to secure that something, however little, should be done every year, it seems to His Honour, that every District Board might properly set apart at least Rs. 5,000 a year, for the improvement of water supply, to be spent either in digging or the improvement of wells, or in the excavation or restoration of tanks, to be reserved for drinking purposes only. The amount suggested is rather more than double the amount actually spent during the past year, but it is very small when compared with the urgency of the want, and the extent of the area to be served. It was explained in 1902, that the above pronouncement did not constitute a definite order, but that the standard indicated should be borne in mind by the District Boards, in providing for this pressing need of many localities. The Lieutenant Governor has recently had occasion to examine the figures of the sums actually spent by the District Boards since 1895-96, and finds that the standard of an annual outlay of Rs. 5,000 has never been consistently maintained in any instance, while some districts have habitually fallen far short of it. This result, His Honour views with considerable disappointment. The importance of the subject has been impressed upon local bodies for a number of years. His Honour does not now intend to prescribe a rigid scale of expenditure in this direction which must be attained by all districts, but the standard of Rs. 5,000 suggested in 1895 was a very moderate one, and in reiterating it, Sir Edward Baker is distinctly of opinion that more should have been done in some districts towards attaining it. The resources of District Boards are now liberally augmented by the Government, by the annual grants made in proportion of 25 per cent. of the sums realised."

SIMLA, JUNE 23.

It may be remembered that the Ceylon Government made a strong representation to the Colonial Office pointing out that recent Indian tobacco duty is seriously affecting the tobacco industry of Jaffna which has hitherto found a good market in Travancore and that it is now almost threatened with extinction. A telegraphic despatch has now been received from the Secretary of State directing that Jaffna growntobacco may be allowed to be imported into Travancore State at the old rate of duty.

MADRAS, JUNE 23.

Perumal, pensioned Colour Havildar, Madras Queen's Own Sappers and Miners, died at Davor Bisnally at the ripe old age of 90. The deceased served in the Burma campaign and was present at the capture of Pegu in 1852. In the Mutiny he took part in the relief of Lucknow and received the 3rd Class Order of Merit for gallantry. He afterwards took part in several frontier expeditions. He was one of those selected to attend the Delhi Durbar where he was presented with a medal by the Viceroy. He retired about 30 years ago and settled at Davor Bisnally near Bangalore.

STORM IN THE BAY OF BENGAL.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JUNE 23.

Bad weather signal was ordered to be hoisted at 11-30 a.m. this morning at all the river stations. The signal is two cones with the upper one inverted and indicates the existence of a cyclonic storm of a small extent in the Bay of Bengal which will probably reach and cross the Coast of the Bay south of a line joining Chittagong and False Point and the weather at Sandheads yesterday was squally with rising sea and increasing wind. Heavy rain may be expected in Bengal.

BOMBAY CORPORATION.

Education for Sanitation.

An adjourned meeting of the Bombay Municipal Corporation was held yesterday afternoon, in the Municipal Hall, Dr. K. E. Dadachanji, the President, presiding.

Consideration was given to the letter from the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bombay regarding the suggestion made by the Corporation for reducing to a reasonable limit the sale of country liquor in shops showing the greatest consumption, particularly in A. F. and G. wards.

The report has already appeared.

Mr. D. E. Wacha said that he intended shortly to address a much larger audience than the Municipal Corporation and would then put his views fully before the public. For the present he would content himself by moving that this most unsatisfactory and disappointing report be recorded. Drinking he said was a vice and it was their duty to try their best to minimise it as far as possible because it was not possible to altogether remove it.

The letter was recorded.

EDUCATION FOR SANITATION.

Consideration was given to a letter from the Commissioner in which he stated:

"With reference to Corporation Resolution No. 823 of 5th May 1910, I have the honour to forward herewith copy of a letter from the Executive Health Officer and to inform you that, in accordance with the desire of the Corporation that arrangements should be made as soon as possible, I have approved of Dr. Goldsmith undertaking the work of instructing such pupils, as may desire to attend, in the duties of the Public Health Department, at a fee of Rs. 100 each. In view of the period of the course, and of the fact that the fee of Rs. 150 paid on account of the Sanitary Surveyors is divided among the officers instructing them, and of the standard of fees in the United Kingdom, I consider that Dr. Goldsmith should be allowed to receive this fee. I should be obliged by your informing the candidates, who wrote you on the 13th April, that they can begin the course of instruction from Monday next."

The Executive Health Officer, in his letter to the Commissioner, stated:—"The University of Bombay has instituted a Degree in Hygiene and Public Health. Before being admitted to the examination the candidate has to produce a satisfactory testimonial that—(a) he has during six months (of which at least three months shall be distinct and separate from the period of the above Laboratory Instruction) been diligently engaged in acquiring a practical knowledge of the duties, routine and special, of Public Health Administration under the supervision of an approved Health Officer. (b) He has attended during three months the practice of a Hospital for Infectious Diseases of at least 50 beds at which opportunities are afforded for the study of Clinical instruction in Infectious Diseases and methods of Administration. With regard to (a) as the Health Officer mentioned, I am not prepared to undertake this work, but am willing that Dr. B. K. Goldsmith can do so and he should receive a fee of at least Rs. 100 for each student and if necessary I will give him such assistance as he requires and sign the testimonials of attendance if certified by him. From the Resolution of the Corporation the Municipal Commissioner can. I presume, settle this and inform the Principal of the Grant Medical College and the students can attend at once. With regard to (b) students may attend the Arthur Road Hospital, the Maratha Hospital and the Aeworth Leper Asylum on the payment of fee Rs. 30 to Dr. Choksey or the Medical Officer of the Hospital at the time. This will require the approval of the Corporatiin and the Principal of the Grant Medical College."

Dr. Master moved that the Commissioner's proposal be accepted but that the fee should be Rs. 50 instead of Rs. 100.

On the suggestion of Dr. Jehangir J. Cursetji, a rider was added to the proposition to the effect that this should continue for one year and that the Commissioner be asked to report on the results in the meantime.

Dr. Sukhia opposed the proposition on principle. He contended that the Municipal officers should not be allowed to do any extra work beyond their own duty.

Colonel Collie asked, how it was possible for a medical student to learn if he did not go to hospitals to secure his education and training. He thought it was a wrong attitude to take up on the part of the Corporation to shut their doors against educating the sons of the citizens of Bombay. The Health Officer would do well to undertake the work of educating young citizens in sanitation and public health as that would give them an insight into sanitary knowledge.

The Hon'ble Dr. T. B Nariman supported Colonel Collie's views.

The Hon'ble Mr. Ibrahim Rahimtulla observed that the broad principle enunciated by Colonel Collie was one that should be universally accepted. But the question now before them was whether their officers should be the instructors. He quite accepted Colonel Collie's contention that the Municipality should give every facility to students for receiving this useful branch of education. There were so many suggestions made that he would move an amendment to refer the matter to a medical committee. But there was no time to do that and therefore it would be wise to accept the rider.

Sir Balchandra remarked that the Corporation having once accepted the principle it was impossible how to entertain Dr. Sukhia's views.

Mr. Baptista urged that education should be free. He suggested that if an officer was needed let them employ one more Assistant Health Officer. He would not oppose the expenditure for an additional Health Officer for giving facility to this kind of education.

Dr Sukhia raised a point of order. He sumitted that the Committee's report on the subject was adopted in May and the subject could not be discussed so soon.

The President remarked that the point was raised too late in the day;

Mr. Jamsetji Wadia moved an amendment to the effect that the period should be three years instead of a year.

Dr. DeMonte moved an amendment to accept the Commissioner's proposal as it was.

Mr. Phiroze C. Setna moved another amendment to the effect that Dr. Goldsmith be allowed to instruct the students; that the arrangement should be for one year, and that the fee of Rs. 100 should be divided between Dr. Goldsmith and the Municipality.

Mr. Kaziji seconded.

On a division Mr Phiroze Sethna's amendment was carried.

The Corporation adjourned to Thursday.

IT'S A BAD SIGN

when you have that obstinate lingering cough which will not be shaken off.

There is no cough at any stage, whether old or young, but what needs attention. A cough soon wrecks a strong constitution, soon makes one helpless, in fact a cough is a very dangerous ailment, yet many hardly notice a cough. The way to cure bronchitis and chest colds is to apply Little's Oriental Balm.

Rub it well in to the chest and back. It penetrates immediately to the inflamed parts. It stops the pain and drives out the inflammation. The cough, the hoarseness, the tightness across the chest go away. Shivering, feverish flushes and difficult breathing all cease. Expectoration of mucous matter is stopped.

It cures every case where a cure is possible. It often cures when nothing else will. Can anybody afford to be without it in the house all the time?

EXHIBITS.

The Secretary drew the attention of Members to the valuable contribution which Capt. A. H. Moose had made to the Society consisting of 9 heads of Gazelles, etc., from Somaliland. These heads having been mounted by one of the leading taxidermists in England were a great acquisition to the Museum and it was to be desired that other Members would follow Capt. Moose's example and provide the Society with a good specimen of the male and female of each of the Indian game animals.

Col. W. B. Bannerman, I.M.S., exhibited a breed of young live Phoorsas ("Echis carinata") which were born in the Bacteriological Laboratory at Parel on 15th June, 1910. The cage was one which contained 8 adult phoorsas.

THE PIED CRESTED CUCKOO.

Mr. Kinnear exhibited some skins and eggs of the Pied Crested Cuckoo ("Coocystes jacobinus") and remarked that every year in the latter part of the hot weather there appears to be a large influx of Pied Crested Cuckoos into Bombay and the surrounding district. They generally made themselves noticeable about the first week in June and were not in evidence after the end of the rains. He mentioned that this Cuckoo was found all over India, but in many places it was according to Blanford, "either met with only during the rains or more abundantly at that period."

During the last three weeks quite a number of examples had been brought in to the Museum, which for the most part had been rescued from the attacks of crows who seems to have a special dislike to this bird. He asked why should crows be so persistent in their attacks on this apparently to them harmless Cuckoo? "It could not surely be from any fear of the Cuckoo laying in their nests since there is no record of an egg being found in the crow's nest that of the larger Babblers "Argya and Cratesopus" as rule being chosen, though sometimes that of a laughing thrush is selected and Mr. Stuart Baker has recorded two instances where eggs were found in the nest of a small Nepal Babbler (Alcippe nepalensis.) It might however be worth mentioning that a cuckoo belonging to the same genera, the Spotted Cuckoo "C. glandarious" of S. Europe and N. Africa lays its eggs in the nests of crows and magpies. Crows were of course always ready to mob any strange bird, for instance two weeks ago an Indian Pitta hatting on migration was rescued from their clutches in the University Gardens and brought in here. A crested cuckoo can however hardly be called a strange bird after the first few days of its arrival and the crows must surely have some other reason for mobbing it. He suggested to members that they should endeavour to note when last Pied Crested Cuckoos were seen at the end of the rains and that those who happened to be in the country in the neighbourhood of Bombay during the cold weather might keep a look out for this species and report its occurrence. He added that any observations which might help to elucidate the cause of the great antipathy which crows have for Pied Crested Cuckoos would always be of interest."

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH COURT.

MANDVI WARD ELECTION.

Corporation's Rights Questioned.

ON the Original Side of the Bombay High Court, yesterday, before the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Macleod, Mr. Kenneth Kemp with the Advocate-General, instructed by Messrs Little and Company, appeared on behalf of Mr N. W. Kemp, Chief Judge, Small Causes Court, to show cause why he should not be directed to proceed to elect Mr. Shrafally Mamooji and Mr. Jaffer Joosab as representatives of the Mandvi Ward.

The Hon'ble Mr. C. H. Setalwad instructed by Messrs. Thakurdas and Company, appeared in support of the rule on behalf of Mr. Mamooji and Mr Jaffer Joosab; the Hon'ble Mr. Jardine, Advocate-General, instructed by Messrs Crawford, Brown and Company watched the proceedings on behalf of the Municipal Commissioner.

Mr. Setalwad, at the outset, put in an affidavit of service upon Sir Jamshedji and Dr. Rajabali.

Mr. Kemp, in showing cause, said that at the hearing before the Chief Judge Mr. Mamooji and Mr. Jaffer Joosab were not seriously attacked. The only person, who, according to the reading of the section by the Chief Judge, could be declared elected was disqualified. The result was that two gentlemen were appointed by the Corporation under section 34 of the Municipal Act.

Counsel said that his first point was that the rule did not lie at all. He contended that the High Court had no jurisdiction in this matter. He argued that the High Court could interfere when a Judge wrongfully refused to perform his duty and not when he had wrongfully performed his duty in a matter like this.

Mr. Kemp here cited several cases in support of his contention and said that according to section 45 of the Specific Relief Act, there must be a specific Act. He submitted that the Chief Judge would be required to inquire into the cases of the petitioners and that, therefore, would not amount to a specific Act.

The learned counsel also contended that this rule was the guise of an appeal against the judgment of the Chief Judge and under the Act no appeal lay against the judgment. That was one more reason, counsel said, why the rule should be discharged.

Mr. Kemp further submitted that this section had given the Court very wide discretionary powers and in using those powers, the Court should also consider the question of public policy. If this rule was made absolute, Mr. Kemp said, there would be no end to rules and applications of this character. He also submitted that in the Municipal Act, the singular did not include the plural as that was repugnant to the context.

In conclusion Mr. Kemp asked the Court to discharge the rule.

Mr. Jardine, in addressing the Court, said that he was present to see that the Corporation's interests were safeguarded and not to dictate to the Court as to what conclusion the Court should arrive at. What he suggested was that the Courts should be very slow in granting applications of this character, and that was what was expressly provided by Section 45 of the Specific Relief Act. He contended that the Court, before interfering, should see that the wrongness was of such a character that it needed interference.

As to delay, counsel remarked that he could not say that there was much delay, but his submission was that this application ought to have been made at a still earlier stage and that point also needed consideration at the hands of the Court. Counsel argued that there was nothing to prevent the petitioners from obtaining a rule of this character from the Vacation Judge. It was a matter of urgency as it was necessary that there should be no delay in the constitution of the Corporation. He also made a point that had notice of this application been given to the Municipal Commissioner at an earlier stage, the Corporation would not have proceeded under Section 24 of the Municipal Act as they did on the 10th May last. Counsel also asked the Court that his Lordship should interfere in such manner that the cases of these two petitioners could also be investigated by the Chief Judge before they were declared to have been elected. Counsel submitted that the petitioners must pass the ordeal that the Chief Judge deemed necessary.

Mr. Setalwad, in supporting the rule, said that he would first dispose of the objections raised by his learned friend Mr. Jardine. He submitted that there was no delay in coming to the Court. They received a copy of the judgment on the 23rd April, that is to say, after the High Court had closed for vacation. They had then to consider their position and then come to Court. His submission was that they had promptly come to Court.

As to giving notice to the Commissioner, counsel said that that would be of no effect as the Corporation would have lost their right had they not proceeded to appoint new members.

Coming to the merits of the rules counsel said that what his clients complained of was that the Chief Judge declined to consider their cases though that power was vested in him. He went further and said the Chief Judge refused to perform the duty enjoined by law. He also said that the cases cited by Mr. Kemp had no bearing on this case.

The learned counsel, in conclusion, asked the Court to make this rule absolute.

His Lordship reserved judgment.

POLICE NEWS.

FAILING TO RETURN TO WORKHOUSE.

YESTERDAY, at the Esplanade Police Court, before Mr. A. H. S. Aston, Chief Presidency Magistrate, Inspector O'Brien charged Thomas Jones, a European, under Section 20 of Indian Penal Code, with failing to return to the Government Workhouse. The accused pleaded guilty. Questioned by the Court as to why he had left the Workhouse, the accused said he did so as he wanted to go out to look for work. He was a fireman and was trying to get work on a ship. Inspector O'Brien said the accused had deserted the workhouse on the 15th June and given himself up on Wednesday. His Worship sentenced the accused to undergo seven days' simple imprisonment.

FAILED TO FURNISH SECURITY.

YESTERDAY, at the Esplanade Police Court, before Mr. A. H. S. Aston, Chief Presidency Magistrate, Inspector Lewis charged Genu Gopal, a Hindu, with having no ostensible means of subsistence and no fixed place of residence. The accused said he was in search of work and was looking out for a room to live in. Inspector Lewis deposed that for the last five or six months he had seen the accused loitering about Null Bazar. He had never seen the accused do any work, and he (the accused) was always seen knocking about in the streets. Witness knew the accused had three previous convictions. He had made inquiries about the accused and found that the latter had no fixed place of residence. The accused had not been able to give a satisfactory account of himself. His Worship said he was not satisfied with the explanation given by the accused, and ordered him to furnish a security of Rs. 300 and one surety for a like amount to be of good behaviour for three months. The accused said he was unable to give the security and that there was none to stand surety for him. His Worship remanded the accused to jail till such time during the term as he should be able to give the security required.

ILL-TREATING ANIMALS.

Exemplary Sentence.

YESTERDAY, before the Fort Bench of Honorary Magistrates, consisting of Mr. J. P. Chrystal (Chairman), the Hon'ble Mr. Manmohandas Ramji, and Mr. J. A. D. McBain, Inspector Dixon charged Dhondia Vithu, driver of labour cart No. 3360, with ill-treating his bullocks on the 13th instant. Inspector Dixon said that while he was on duty at the Prince's Dock on the day in question, he saw the accused thrashing his bullock on what he thought was the horn, but on going closer he (Inspector Dixon) found that the eye of the animal was the accused's objective. He found the bullock's eye swollen and bleeding, and he arrested the accused. The accused admitted having struck the bullock on the eye and prayed for mercy. Their Worships sentenced the accused to two months' rigorous imprisonment.

RASH MOTOR DRIVING.

YESTERDAY, at the Esplanade Police Court, before Rao Bahadur Chunilal H. Setalvad, Acting Third Presidency Magistrate, Inspector Lookyer charged one Dharam Jal, a motor-car driver in the employ of MacBeth Brothers, with driving his motor car in a rash and negligent manner on the 22nd ultimo at Wellington Lines. Thomas Lister was also charged with rash and negligent driving. The case for the prosecution was that the accused drove their cars in a rash and negligent manner at Wellington Lines, where the traffic at the time was heavy. The accused pleaded not guilty. The first accused was sentenced to pay a fine of Rs. 10, and the second accused to pay a fine of Rs. 7. His Worship also ordered that an endorsement of the same should be recorded on the license.

INFRINGING PORT RULES.

YESTERDAY, at the Esplanade Police Court, before Rao Bahadur Chunilal H. Setalvad, Acting Third Presidency Magistrate, Inspector Schneider of the Bombay Port Trust Lights Department charged Searle of the s.s. "Najim," and Mahomed Musa of the s.s. "Fairie Queen" with having no regulation port lights on board on the 14th and 16th instant respectively. The first accused said the oil was bad and did not burn and that just as he was telling the lampman to trim the lamp, the Inspector came up. Both the accused were convicted and fined Rs. 10 each.

HOUSE-BREAKING IN THE FORT.

YESTERDAY at the Esplanade Police Court, before Rao Bahadur Chunilal H. Setalvad, Third Presidency Magistrate, Superintendent Priestley and Inspector Sykes prosecuted Jairam Hariram and three other Hindus on a charge of attempting to commit house-breaking on the 15th instant, in old Hanuman Lane. The facts of the case have already been reported. Several thefts had been reported to have been committed in the locality and a special watch was therefore kept there. The accused were caught red-handed. The first accused was sentenced to two years' rigorous imprisonment, of which two months were to be in solitary confinement. The rest of the accused were sentenced to one year's rigorous imprisonment each.

THE MAZAGON MURDER.

Yesterday before Mr. J. H. Bhabha, Superintendent Meyers again charged Awad Behari Shivdas, a Purdisee, murder of a Hindu woman named Manjulabai on the third floor of a house near the Mazagon Railway station, on the morning of the 18th instant.

The circumstances under which the murder was committed have already been reported.

After recording the evidence His Worship committed the accused to take his trial at the ensuing Criminal Sessions of the High Court.

Mr. G. F. Chalk, the Coroner of Bombay, concluded the enquiry regarding the death of Manjulabai when the jury returned the following verdict that the death of the deceased was caused by wounds inflicted by Awad Behari with a penknife and that under the circumstances the act of Awad Behari was to commit an offence punishable under the Indian Penal Code.

KIDNAPPING A HINDU CHILD.

Accused Convicted.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, JUNE 23.

Tayarammal Hamantha Chetty, Seshiah Chetty and hinnammal were prosecuted before Mr. J. E. Coombes for kidnapping a Hindu child named Rajammal.

The first accused who knew Rajammal took her to a tinket shop in George Town where the child was given some new bangles and afterwards taken to a house near Elephant Gate. She was given drugged food. The other accused then turned upon Rajammal in a semi-conscious state was taken to the Central Station where the party took train for Guntakal. At Guntakal accused introduced themselves to one Seshappa as being in search of an eligible husband for Rajammal. Seshappa having been commissioned by friend to find a bride for his son opened negotiations with the party and struck a bargain. His friend was to pay Rs. 450 as dowry to accused and bear also all expenses. The marriage money was paid and the girl handed over to the strangers. Meanwhile the police having got scent of the affair rescued the girl as she was being taken against her will to Nellkonda, her prospective husband's village near Guntakal. The first accused admitted the charge and was sentenced to one year's rigorous imprisonment, the second and third accused got two years' rigorous imprisonment each, the last accused was given six months' hard labour.

STATE TECHNICAL SCHOLARSHIPS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LAHORE, JUNE 23.

With reference to Home Department Circular dated December 1909, notifying the selection of glass melting and pottery as industries to be encouraged by the award of a State scholarship in 1910, owing to the impossibility of arranging for a suitable course of instruction in England in glass industry the Lieutenant Governor of the Punjab has decided to offer the scholarship this year for training in alkali manufacture. Applications have been invited from University Graduates in Chemistry.

SOCIAL REFORM IN THE PUNJAB.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

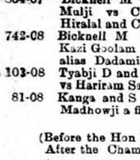
TIRED, WORN-OUT, RUN DOWN.



Conditions we so often find in, and so often are we unable to find a cause. We grow tired over ordinarily easy work, old before our time, listless and lifeless and without energy or ambition. Appetite grows poor sleepless nights are passed no desire for work or pleasure. Then troubles of the nerves, the head, the stomach, liver, bowels, blood, in fact, the entire system is undermined and overcome. Such an army of system is appalling—but liability of same is certainty. Blood and nerve diseases are silent and insidious and do deadly work with little warning. At the first sign of the smallest symptom of nerve disorder get in touch with that King of all remedies.—

Prof. James' Electro-Tonic Pearls.

Their marvellous curative effects are manifested from the first day of their administration by a remarkable increase of nerve and Intellectual Power, with a feeling of courage, strength and comfort. Digestion is invigorated, appetite increases wonderfully, bowels becomes regular, countenance clear and ruddy, the eyes bright, sight improved, the step and gait again elastic and determined, the temper cheerful, the brain again active, memory tenacious, bodily nourishment increased and energy restored.

FREE.—In order to prove the abovementioned effects a trial bottle lasting for two days will be forwarded post paid to any person sending two annas postage stamps. Read these evidences.

J. R. Gaikwad, Mamlatdar of Satri, writes that "Please send two bottles of Prof. James' Electro Tonic Pearls by V. P. P. as soon as possible. They give good effects."

Mr. J. C. Britto from Ponda, writes that—"Prof. James' Electro-Tonic Pearls did me more good than all other medicine or Pills, or the most marvellous Electric belt, that would be produced. Please send immediately two bottles of it."

M. N. Venkataramier, Pleader from Kulitala, writes that I feel some good effect from Prof. James' Electro-Tonic Pearls. Kindly send one more bottle of it, per V. P. P."

Santokhsingh, B.A., Law Professor, Police Training College Moradabad, writes: "I have tried two bottles of Prof. James' Electro-Tonic Pearls and have found them very useful. Please send two more bottles of it, per V. P. P."

BY THE WAY.

LONG-DISTANCE RIDING EXTRAORDINARY.

The projected ride by a number of sportsmen from German South-West Africa to Berlin will, if it is accomplished, surpass all previous long distance equestrian feats. Some years ago, it is true, Major Barbour, a well-known American rough-rider, conceived the bold idea of riding from New York to Paris via Liberia; but, so far as we know, the journey was never completed. More recently Lieutenant F. McCabe, of the United States Army, rode from Silverton, Oregon, on the Pacific Coast to New York, a distance of more than 3,000 miles. Among shorter distance riding feats the most remarkable are the ride from Vienna to Berlin (680 kilometres) in 1892, by a number of German and Austrian officers; Richard King's famous ride from Durban to Grahamstown (600 miles) in ten days; Sir Harry Smith's six day's journey from Capetown to Grahamstown, 700 miles distant, and, of course, Colonel Barnaby's historic ride to Khiva, across the Steppes of Tartary.

A FRENCH TRIBUTE TO KING EDWARD.

In the current number of "La Revue pour les Francais" (issued on the 25th ultimo) occurs a fine tribute to our late King. The editor M. Gaston Bordat, writes: "One of the noblest and most sympathetic figures of our time has disappeared. The unanimous regret of the civilised world followed him to the tomb, and posterity will honour his memory. Edward VII., at a time when the role of sovereigns is more than difficult, realised all that a great people could expect from him whom destiny had placed at their head. Faithful to the time-honoured traditions of his country, respecting its constitution and its laws, at the same time careful of Royal prestige, he joined to such high qualities those of gaining hearts. He had created around him an atmosphere of confidence because under every circumstance and with unaffected dignity he did exactly the right things."

THE KING AND FRANCE.

"Never possessed a monarch more tact, a more complete sense of proportion, and of the fitness of things. Added to these gifts were personal grace and charm that perhaps more than his international views won for him such warm French sympathies. His too-short reign terminated at a period of social and political crisis not without uneasiness to the friends of England. The English nation will accord his successor a large and generous measure of confidence on account of their profound attachment to the principle he represents. But the heritage of affection is no appanage of the Crown, and cannot, with it, be transmitted."

"ROOSEVELT THE MAN."

A number of stories of Mr. Roosevelt are told in an interesting little book entitled "Roosevelt the Man," by W. Holt-White, which has been published by Mr. Melrose. When Commissioner of Police in New York Mr. Roosevelt's first duty was to insist upon a rigorous closing of Sunday bars and drinking-saloons in the city. This he did, with his customary directness and decision, much to the disgust of the "trade." An immense procession of these gentlemen was immediately organised. It was arranged that they should file past on parade, and ask for the head of Roosevelt. To the astonishment of everybody Roosevelt was present, sitting on a raised seat in the room where the procession was organised.

"HOORAY FOR ROOSEVELT."

As it was starting, a fierce, Teutonic voice was raised, and said in German, "Where is Roosevelt?" Immediately up jumped Roosevelt and shouted in his best German, "Here I am. What do you want, comrade?" So much impressed was the "comrade" by the German of Roosevelt, and by his alacrity in revealing, himself, that he threw up his cap and shouted in broken English, "Hooray for Roosevelt." To the surprise of the organisers of the procession, the cry was taken up, and the proceedings developed into a kind of triumph for the man who had had the bars closed on Sunday.

ON THE ROCKS.

Once Mr. Roosevelt and Lieutenant Sharpe were engaged in negotiating for the purchase of cruisers. They had spent nearly a million and a half pounds, and were returning to the Navy Office. It began to rain, and neither had an umbrella. "Sharpe," said Roosevelt, "I have only four cents in my pocket. Lend me one cent or five cents, will you, so that I can ride home." "I haven't a single cent," Sharpe answered. "Never mind, Sharpe," said Roosevelt. "It doesn't often happen that two public servants spend seven million dollars and do not even have a car-fare in their pockets to bless themselves with."

"A FULL HOUSE."

Once on a western trip Mr. Roosevelt stopped at a small town in Kansas. At the station the President was expected to say a few words to the assembled crowd, and he chose his favourite text of "race suicide" as being most appropriate to the district. While speaking he noticed a man bearing three small children on his shoulders, and beside him stood a woman carrying two babies. The President's speech was going along smoothly when suddenly the man with the three children broke in with a voice that could be heard a quarter of a mile away. "Hey, Teddy," he shouted, "can you beat this? It's a full house, Teddy—triplets and twins; three of a kind and a pair."

HOW A HAT WAS WON.

The President's reputation for strenuosity is well known. He is even strenuous in his arguments. Once at a conference, when the debaters were growing heated, the President rose to his feet hastily. All eyes immediately were turned towards him, and all ears were strained to catch the expected illumination. "I'll bet you a hat," Roosevelt remarked, apropos of nothing at all, "that I can jump over that chair." One of the Senators took the bet. The President with a slight run performed the feat, and added, with great satisfaction, "I wanted a hat badly."

"A PRETTY INCIDENT."

One of the prettiest incidents in Theodore Roosevelt's career as President concerns the appointment of Mr. Pollock as Federal judge in Kansas. There were four candidates, and Mr. Roosevelt said the Congressmen must unite in recommending one of them. While they were conferring the Republican "boss" visited Mr. Roosevelt, who asked about the four candidates. The "boss," who preserved neutrality, showed the President a letter which Mr. Pollock who was charged with being a gambler, had received from his little daughter Lucile.

THE LETTER.

"Dear Papa," the letter ran, "why don't you go to the President and see him? I know he will not believe all the nasty things said about you after you talk with him. It is a shame for these men to say what they have about you." Mr. Roosevelt immediately ordered a commission to be issued in the name of Mr. Pollock, and taking a rose from his buttonhole, he handed it to the 'boss' saying, "I want you personally to give this rose to Lucile, and tell her that the President sent it to her. If our children have faith in us there can be no great wrong in any of us".

SPUYTEN DUYVIL.

Spuyten Duyvil, where Mr. Curtiss descended after his 137 mile flight from Albany to New York, is a village situated on a creek of the same name, which separates Manhattan Island from the mainland on the north-west. An explanation, real or invented, of this strange place-name, may be found in the pages of Washington Irving. He relates that Antony van Corlear, the trusty henchman of Pieter de Groot, swore one dark and stormy night that he would swim across the water in spite of the Devil (spuyten Duyvil), and was drowned in the attempt.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by medicine dealers everywhere.

THE LADIES' CORNER.

SOME NEW EVENING TOILETTES.

It is some years now, writes a London correspondent, since black evening frocks held a prominent place in Fashion's favour, and it is a curious fact that they were already being worn early in the present season some months before that sad event occurred which made the wearing of them a foregone conclusion where loyal English women were concerned. It is not altogether easy, however, to introduce any great variety into the design of the evening gowns of the moment, although there are fortunately, numbers of becoming fabrics which can be employed for the making of toilettes of this description. Some of the most successful of the new evening gowns are arranged in a combination of black soft satin, ninon de soie, and fine black lace Black ninon de soie is a fabric chosen for the gown itself, made up over black soft satin, and lightly draped at the side of the skirt, where the folds are caught with bright jet buckles. Over the ninon skirt there is a tunic of very fine black Chantilly lace, while the bodice is draped with the same lace, arranged in bolero fashion. The lace draperies on the corsage are caught together with jet chains and buckles, and on the shoulders a similar purpose is served by other buckles of jet. The waistbelt is of black soft satin, and there is a chemisette of fine black Alencon lace over chiffon, with short under-sleeves to correspond. A long shoulder-scarf of black silk net looks well with this typical mourning toilette.

EVENING FROCKS.

Evening frocks which most happily combine smartness of effect with a considerable amount of durability are being carried out in black silk Tosca nets and made up over soft black satin merveilleux, chosen with an exceedingly smooth texture, and in a quality which is specially light in weight. These net gowns are very simply made, and are arranged with straight skirts, the full draperies of which are drawn down into a deep hem of black satin merveilleux. The bodices are cut square and lightly draped with folds which follow the curves of the figure, and which disappear under a black satin waist belt. Jet embroidery outlines the square decolletage, and appears also upon the elbow sleeves, which are made of transparent net, without any satin lining.

SOME BEAUTIFUL DRESSES.

There are very beautiful dresses in the new play "Don Cesar de Bazan" at the Lyric, and none are more charming than those worn by Miss Titheradge. One is of pale amber-coloured satin, made with a draped bodice, outlined with brown satin ribbon and trimmed with three tiny brown satin bows. The sleeves are puffed, and are finished at the elbow with a pointed cuff of cambric and lace, and a deep berthe of cambridge edged with lace decorates the corsage. The skirt is quite plain, except for two bands of the ribbon which is carried round the foot; and two other bands outline the waist. Miss Titheradge also wears a dress of white satin, cut low and trimmed round the decolletage with silver lace. The sleeves are arranged in one puff, cut away to show an undersleeve of silver tissue and these also are finished with deep cuffs of silver lace. A panel, worked with silver braid, arranged in a diamond pattern, which is studded with pearls and diamonds, is carried down the corsage and finished with silver fringe; and another panel of the same description ornaments the front of the skirt. The latter is further trimmed with a heavy silver cord, which outlines its hem. When she appears as a gipsy Miss Titheradge wears a picturesque dress consisting of a petticoat striped with purple and gold, and a shirt bodice of soft white cambric held in at the waist by a deep belt of rabbit fur. Over this corsage she folds an embroidered shawl of deep purple silk, and round her head she twists a striped yellow scarf. Numerous necklaces of gaudy beads are hung round her neck and shoulders to complete a costume notable for its combination of colours.

'VIYELLA'

(Regd.)

FOR GARMENTS MADE AT HOME.

For those who make their garments at home there is no fabric quite the equal of "Viyella." Its soft finish gives comfort to the tenderest skin; it does not shrink, and its texture is just right to provide sufficient warmth without risk of chill.

Be sure you see the "Viyella" label on the selvedge.

Ask your draper to show you the new patterns; if you have any difficulty write for our booklet about "Viyella."

GREEN ROOM GOSSIP.

Sir Charles Wyndham and Miss Mary Moore, happily recovered from her serious illness, have returned to London after a fifteen months' absence in America, and, with their company, received a hearty welcome at the Criterion Theatre. The piece chosen for the "rentree" was "The Case of Rebellious Susan," by Mr. Henry Arthur Jones, which caused considerable discussion when it was first produced at this theatre sixteen years ago (it was revived in 1901.) This play was one of a long series by the same author which Sir Charles produced at the Criterion. "The Liars" was, perhaps, the most famous and successful of the group, but "The Case of Rebellious Susan" enjoyed a long and prosperous run. It was a series written at the time of the so-called "revolt of women," of Grant Allen's "The Woman Who Did," and Sarah Grand's "Heavenly Twins." It was not political emancipation for women that was then being clamoured for, but the social—the abolition of the difference between the code of morals for the man and that for the woman. That was sixteen years ago—and it cannot be said that the two codes have been drawn very much nearer.

THE CASE OF REBELLIOUS SUSAN.

Like most of Mr. Jones's comedies, "The Case of Rebellious Susan" shows us a "woman who would" if she dared; an unpleasant husband and the lover. It shows us the forced reconciliation of the married pair at the finish in order that the conventions shall not be outraged, and, like the others, leaves a taste in the mouth that both husband and wife have very little chance of happiness in the future. In 1894 the playgoing public was divided into two camps—one side holding that Lady Susan did go to the extremest lengths in her scheme of revenge against her faithless husband the other that she merely indulged in a mild flirtation. So far as the author is concerned, you can take it either way. There is little doubt, however, that his intention was to suggest that Lady Susan did take full advantage of her opportunities in Egypt. The text of the play is that fidelity is demanded of the man, as of the woman; but, if the man proves weak, there is nothing for it but for the woman to forgive. On the other hand, if she, too, seeks "romance" to make things even, she must not breathe a word about it. So that the "vengeance" in any case would not seem to have much savour.

SIR CHARLES AS A "RAISONNEUR."

The comedy bears its age very well. It is certainly amusing, and it is such a long time since one has seen Sir Charles as a "raisonneur" that the old monotony of his continual appearance in this class of character is forgotten. The author entertains us still from first to last, although his scheme nowadays seems somewhat attenuated, and had he chosen to refurbish his piece by the complete redrawing of the caricaturish Pybuses, "The Case of Rebellious Susan" might almost have been written yesterday. Mr. Jones has many wise things to urge against feminine demands for equality, and his speeches sound quite "a propos" of the present movements as of the earlier one. "Go home to your firesides. Be good wives and mothers, he says in effect, "and do not be ridiculous and worry about anything else. Nature has settled the whole question for you." Save, as we have said, that nowadays we eschew exaggeration in our comedies and would rigidly avoid such exaggerations as the idiotic young couple—the boy an exhibitor and the girl a tub-thumper—and that the speeches are rather more ornate and studied than is the present fashion, there is but little in the play which is antiquated. We are certainly not getting such clever comedies to-day.

THE CHARACTER.

Sir Charles Wyndham once again plays the part of Sir Richard Kato, Q. C., the "friend of the family," the eminent barrister, Lady Susan's guardian, who resolutely refuses to allow her to outrage the conventions. He acts the character as well as ever—he has aged even less than the play in these sixteen years. We find in him the same ease of manner, the same charm and earnestness, and all those qualities which have for so long given him a place entirely his own in the representation of suave men of the world who are full of sentiment beneath their exterior of worldliness. It was delightful to note once again the art of the actor and his power to hold a situation and to extract from it every ounce that is in it. In his delivery of the long and somewhat flowery speeches with which Sir Richard gives each character in turn his philosophy of life, we found the old sincerity and the old cadences. Nothing has changed. Miss Mary Moore, obviously not yet in the possession of her full strength or spirits, was again Lady Susan, which she plays with the directness and skill we always find in her acting. Mr. Alfred Bishop, as Admiral Darby, gave a deliciously humorous performance of the part originally played by the late Mr. Kemble. One of the brightest spots in the evening was the episode of his confession of his own misdeeds. Mr. Sam Sothern played the part of Harabin, Lady Susan's husband, excellently, and Miss Ellis Jeffreys, as Mrs. Quesnel, was wholly and entirely captivating. Miss Marie Illington, as Lady Darby; Mr Charles Quartermaine as Edenson; Mr. Leslie Hamer, as Pybus, and Miss Athene Seyler, as Mrs. Pybus, could not have been improved upon.

MESSRS. MELVILLE'S INAUGURATION.

The production of "Richard III.," with which Messrs. Melville inaugurated their management of the Lyceum Theatre, is the most pretentious that has been given in London since the days of Henry Irving and Richard Mansfield. It is also the only purely-Shakesperian version of the tragedy presented in modern times, with the single notable exception of Sir Henry Irving's. A most excellent rendering of the play by Mr. F. R. Benson and his able company was a feature of a recent Shakespeare Festival at His Majesty's, but that was disfigured, in the eyes of the purists, by the retention of Cibberesque exercescences. At the Lyceum, on the other hand, Shakespeare's own work is given—unmutilated save for necessary excisions, which have been reverently and judiciously made. "Off with his head! So much for Buckingham!" is ruthlessly expunged, and the character of Hastings and the beautiful dream speech of Clarence, which Cibber egregiously deleted, are retained. In addition to these virtues, the Lyceum "Richard III," is handsomely put on the stage, with archæological and heraldic accuracy and splendid pictorial effects. On the whole, therefore, the entertainment was the worthiest that has been seen at the Lyceum since the conclusion of the Irving "regime."

MR. MARTIN HARVEY.

Qualified approval, however, must be reserved for Mr. Martin Harvey's impersonation of "the Bloody King." The popular actor's reading is in many respects directly contrary to the text. In appearance he makes Richard quite a pretty fellow, whereas one knows that the very dogs barked at his deformities. Mr. Harvey, on the other hand, is a handsome Richard, with no perceptible hunch and only a slight occasional limp. This may be the Richard of history, for the portraits of the actual King are not unbeautiful, but it certainly is not the Richard of Shakespeare. Hence the actor's presentment, so far as its outward quality goes, falls between the proverbial two stools. In his desire to make the impersonation attractive he has made it sympathetic, whereas it should be diabolically repulsive. The conquest of an audience by the acting of Richard should arise, not from sympathy with the character, but from admiration of its singlehearted devotion to evil; its ardent, uncompromising devilry. Another important factor in Mr. Harvey's comparative ineffectiveness is his diminutive physique, which is all the more apparent on the vast Lyceum stage.

OTHER CHARACTERS.

The acting of the numerous minor characters is equally uneven, Miss Mary Roke is a wholly satisfying Queen Margaret. The exquisite speeches of Clarence before his assassination and of Richmond on the eve of battle are finely declaimed by Mr. Owen Roughwood and Mr. Philip Newland. The two murderers are grimly and skilfully played, with admirable sense of character, by Mr. George Cooke and Mr. Percy Foster, and Mr. Frederic Ross is an impressive Lord Hastings. Otherwise the acting invites no special notice. From the points of view of spectacular charm there is much to admire. The audience was most enthusiastic, Mr. Harvey having to answer a long succession of calls and to express his acknowledgments in a graceful little speech.

Nature's Way to Beauty.

ICILMA FLUOR CREAM, England's premier face-cream, is Nature's way to Beauty and is the only really safe and beneficial face-cream. The wonderful ICILMA NATURAL WATER contained in it is the greatest discovery ever made for the skin, for it stimulates the natural energy of the skin to resist all ill-effects of weather or age. That is why daintily-scented, greaseless protects the skin from the hottest sun or coldest wind. Invaluable for immediately curing chaps, sunburn, insect bites and abrasions and for preventing blueness from cold. Cannot grow hair, requires no powder to hide it and does away with the necessity of dangerous greasy skin foods. For giving lasting clean cool comfort and healthy transparency of skin it has no equal.

Icilma Fluor Cream

A MEN find it particularly soothing after shaving—rubbed in over night it makes the morning shave marvellously easy. Icilma is brimstone-ere-silma.

BENGER'S FOOD

is for Infants and Invalids and for those whose digestive powers have become weakened by illness or advancing age.

If the digestive functions, however weak, can do any work at all they should be given work to do to the extent of their powers. In the easy process of its preparation the digestibility of Benger's can be regulated to give this work with extreme nicety.

The "British Medical Journal" says—"Benger's Food has, by its excellence established a reputation of its own."

BENGER'S NEW BOOKLET deals with the most common doubts and difficulties which mothers have to encounter. It is sent just free on application to Benger's Food, Ltd., Otter Works, Manchester, England.

Benger's Food is sold in tins by Druggists, etc., everywhere. B27

DR. DE JONGH'S
KNIGHT OF THE ORDER OF LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM
KNIGHT OF THE LEGION OF HONOUR
LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL

THE PUREST. THE MOST PALATABLE. THE MOST DIGESTIBLE.
THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.
Incontestably proved by Forty Years' Medical Experience to be
The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

DR. PROSSER JAMES,
Lecturer on Materia Medica, London Hospital.
"Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL contains the whole of the active ingredients of the remedy, and is easily digested. Hence its value, not only in Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, but in a great number of cases to which the Profession is extending its use."

DR. HUNTER SEMPLE,
Physician to the Hospital for Diseases of the Throat and Chest, London.
"I have long been aware of the great reputation enjoyed by the LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL introduced into medical practice by Dr. DE JONGH, and have recommended it with the utmost confidence. I have no hesitation in stating my opinion, that it possesses all the qualities of a good and efficient medicine. Its taste is by no means disagreeable, and might even be called pleasant. I have found Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL very useful in cases of Chronic Cough, and especially in Laryngeal Disease complicated with Consumption."

DR. SAUNDERS, C.B.,
Late Deputy Inspector-General Army Hospitals, Superintendent London Medical Mission.
"I have used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL extensively among the sick poor of St. Giles's, and consider it a valuable remedy, especially in the Wasting Diseases of Children."

DR. WHITMORE,
Medical Officer of Health, St. Marylebone, London.
"My own somewhat lengthened experience as a Medical Practitioner enables me with confidence to recommend Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as being more uniform in quality, more certain in its effects, more palatable, and infinitely less likely to disagree with the stomach than the Pale Oil. If I were asked for an explanation of the marked success which for so many years has attended the administration of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL I should say that it is owing to its extraordinary medicinal, dietetic, and reginimal properties, and which are found to exist in no other medicine that I am acquainted with, in such uniform combination.

Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with Sir H. De Jongh's Patent Capsule impressed on the top with Dr. DE JONGH'S Stamp, and on the side with his Signature, and the Signature of ANSAR, HARFORD & Co.; and being under the wrapper a Label with the same Stamp and Signatures. WITHOUT THESE MARKS NONE CAN POSSIBLY BE GENUINE.

Sold by all respectable Chemists, Druggists, and Storekeepers throughout the World.

VETARZO BRAIN AND NERVE FOOD.

This remarkable compound, the result of the latest developments and achievements of modern chemistry, pharmacology, and therapeutics, is without equal in all cases of defective nerve power, whether induced by worry, over-work, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excess, youthful imprudence, or other influences incidental to the wear and tear and haste of modern life. Sleeplessness, headaches, palpitation, nervous dyspepsia, low spirits, mental and bodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dimness of sight, defective hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy its pleasures, restlessness that can settle to nothing, irritability of temper, female complaints, hysteria, painful periods, backache, headache, nervous down sensations, nervous headache, wasting disease, night sweats, and all other phases of brain and nerve exhaustion, are successfully combated by this highly scientific preparation. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, arrests all wearing wasting discharges, involuntary losses, &c.; restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to what had so recently seemed worn out, "used up," and valueless.

VETARZO BLOOD MEDICINE.

Never before was there anything like it, nor can its marvellous properties ever be equalled in all cases of poorness, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbibed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, overcoming and expelling the virus of disease, wheresoever and in whatsoever form met with; removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, scrofulous and glandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches, &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of gout, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, pains and swellings of the joints, discharges, secondary symptoms, eczema, lepra, psoriasis, bad legs, bad breasts, abscesses, ulcers, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck, it improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or "VETARZO Blood Medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them, as unprincipled vendors often try to palm off inferior preparations (usually their own manufacture), for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 2/9. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground, by direction of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners. Registered Trade Mark "VETARZO." Legal proceedings will be taken against persons pirating.

COMMON SENSE IN A NUTSHELL.—A new medical work on the causes and most scientific and effectual means of self-cure ever discovered for nervous exhaustion, depression of spirits, want of zest and energy, &c., with practical observations on marriage and full directions for removing certain disqualifications that destroy the happiness of wedded life. It also treats on urinary derangements, secondary symptoms, stricture, &c., and no sufferer should fail to procure a copy. Post free in plain envelope on receipt of Postal Order Sixpence, from THE VETARZO REMEDIES CO., Gospel Oak, London, or of Agents for above medicines. Price 10 annas Post Free.
